The Scottish Borders is one of Scotland’s loveliest regions, known for its gentle hills, beautiful river valleys, dramatic coast and easy pace of life. It’s also home to Scotland’s historic textile towns, built around soft waters and nature’s glorious colours to inspire our designers.

Today, the small market towns of Hawick, Innerleithen, Selkirk and Peebles produce some of the world’s finest tartans, tweeds and cashmere. Their iconic brands and products are found in the best international boutiques, but you can also find them right here, in our high streets and factory outlets.

You’ll also find romantic ruined abbeys, historic houses, fishing, golf, horse-riding, unique festivals and culture, excellent eateries and accommodation, and the friendliest welcome in Scotland. Whatever the time of year, the Scottish Borders’ special magic will leave you relaxed, restored, and coming back for more.
